

Culture in Brief: “Psychodrama” at Dreamcatcher through March 3

PHOTO COURTESY WIKIMEDIA COMMONS

Montclair playwright Phoebe Farber’s “Psychodrama” has its world premiere at Dreamcatcher Repertory Theatre, through March 3. The play is described in a release as a “seriocomedy,” set in a divorce support group held in the basement of a Unitarian church, where a new leader uses unorthodox methods. This play has been developed over the past several years in the Lab at Luna Stage and in readings at Writers Theater of NJ and Dreamcatcher. Among the cast are Harry Patrick Christian and Becca L. McLarty of Montclair. Performances take place on weekends. For tickets and information, visit dreamcatcherrep.org, or call Brown Paper Tickets, 1-800-838-3006. Dreamcatcher Rep is at the Oakes Center, 120 Morris Ave., Summit.